

Sun Chronicle

<http://www.thesunchronicle.com/articles/2008/09/13/opinion/3646068.txt>

Opinion

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Saturday, September 13, 2008 1:14 AM EDT

She's determined in race for state Senate

To the editor:

At a recent campaign event Gov. Patrick and Barney Frank not only endorsed Sara Orozco for state Senate, but they spoke about the importance of partnerships between the administration, legislators, and constituencies, and they expressed their unqualified support for Sara and for the kind of partnerships she will provide if elected.

Sara will not be content to show up at ribbon cuttings and testimonials to take credit for someone else's work.

When she is elected in November, she will not be just another senator who votes for the right thing when it's convenient or expedient. Rather, Sara will add another strong, determined, thoughtful, morally committed voice to make certain that the right thing comes up for a vote by submitting and co-sponsoring bills, and by forming important partnerships with other legislators to get those bills passed.

Sara will work to make Massachusetts the Green Tech Capital of the world, bringing in jobs and renewable energy to our district. That's why Sara supports the Life Sciences bill (which her opponent did not vote for), the Clean Energy bill, and the Green Jobs Initiative.

She is committed to making our health care system accessible and affordable through health promotion and disease prevention. Sara believes in the community college system and she will work to strengthen it and all public higher education in Massachusetts.

Sara Orozco has commitment, integrity, and an ability to speak to constituents across a broad spectrum of issues and ideas.

Even though she has no Democratic opponent in the primary on Sept. 16, I urge you to go to the polls to voice your support for Sara Orozco and her unique vision for our towns, our district, and our commonwealth.

Wayne Bryant

Plainville